

A cross-sectional view of a multi-layered material, labeled 11. The material consists of four distinct layers: a top layer 15 with diagonal hatching, a second layer 14 with horizontal hatching, a third layer 13 with vertical hatching, and a bottom layer 12 with diagonal hatching. An arrow points to the top surface of the material.

Fig.2

